Heritage Act with an Ontario Heritage Trust Easement

Early History of Auchmar

In 1852, Isaac Buchanan purchased 85 acres of land on the Hamilton mountain. The property stretched from the mountain brow to Fennell Avenue. He built a summer cottage which over the years became Auchmar, a manor house and estate, named after his ancestral home in Scotland.

Designed in the Gothic Revival style, the Manor House consisted of a ballroom, library, dining room, large farm like kitchen, living room and 12 other rooms.

The grounds had a Gate House, Coach House, Dovecote, walled gardens, a private shed, stables, gazebo and an orchard. A tree allee started at the escarpment and meandered along, bringing visitors to the manor. Auchmar Estate was completed in 1855.
